Father-Son Night Held at School

Approximately 400 fathers and sons attended the second annual Father-Son night at Stephen M. White Junior High June 12. The affair was sponsored by the boys' physical education department. The program consisted of games, community singing, film highlights of the 1957-58 L. A. Rams football games, a comedy trampoline act, and a judo exhibition by the Ogden Judo School of Long Beach. Marvin Goux, presently assistant line coach at USC and the only football player in USC history to twice win the "Most Inspirational Player" award, was guest speaker. Goux gave an inspirational talk covering the importance of attitude, training and sportsmanship in relation to success in sports and everyday living. He presented the school sportsmanship awards to George Didon, ninth grade winner; Curtis Nuez, eighth grade winner; and Francis Oto, seventh grade winner. After-school baseball trophies were presented to Captain Jim Williams and to the Bruins, winners of the Senior League; Captain Bob Tesmer and the Cougars, winners of the Intermediate League; and to Captain John Blakemore and the Cougars, winners of the Junior League. The Sweepstakes Trophy, awarded to the team which finished highest in all three leagues, went to the Cougars. Following the program, the fathers and sons adjourned to the cafeteria for refreshments to top off the evening.
